ROOSEVELT GOES SHOOTING.

Ex-President and Son Secure Grant's Gazelle and Hartebeest.

NAIROBI, British East Africa, April 27.—Theodore Roosevelt and his son Kermit had sufficiently recovered today from the fatigue connected with their first shooting trips and their journey from Kapiti Plains station to the farm of Sir Alfred Pease, on the Athi river, to go out shooting this morning for small game. They secured a Grant's gazelle and a hartebeest.

All the members of the Roosevelt party were busy today sorting out their baggage and making it up into loads and otherwise preparing to start on more extended hunting expeditions. J. Alden Loring and Major Mearns came into Kapiti station this morning from the Pease ranch, and set to work making up loads from the baggage there. They looked tired, owing to the fatigue of the last few days and the depressing effect of the climate.

Part of the Roosevelt camp has already been established at the Pease ranch and the remainder of the caravan will move over to this point tomorrow morning.

The Roosevelt party decided today to remain one week at the Pease ranch, and, with this stay in view, a number of cases of stores were sent into the American camp today.

The small pox among the porters of the caravan has been checked.

MEHEMMED V NOW SULTAN OF TURKEY.

Deposed Ruler a Prisoner, Carefully Guarded by Young Turks.

Capital Alive with Excitement, but Change Made Without Disorder.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 27.—Abdul Hamid, II, Sultan of Turkey, was today deposed from the throne of the Ottoman Empire by his subjects, for his interference with the progress of popular government under the constitution granted by him last July, and his brother, Mehemmed Reschad Effendi, now occupies the throne. This change was decided upon by the national assembly without a dissenting voice, and it was carried out with the utmost rapidity. The Sultan is now a prisoner in the hands of the Young Turks, and carefully guarded by his captors. The formal decree removing Abdul Hamid from all power over the Turkish empire was issued by the Sheik-Ul-Islam, head of the church, in the regular form prescribed by the tenets of the Mohammedan faith. The written declaration of the dethronement reached Parliament house at ten minutes past ten o'clock. Five minutes later parliament pronounced the deposition of Abdul Hamid, and at 10:50, forty minutes after the receipt of the decision of the head of the church, the national assembly invited Mehemmed Reschad Effendi to succeed to the throne.

A salute of 101 guns announcing the end of the reign of Abdul Hamid and the beginning of that of Mehemmed Reschad Effendi was fired at half past two o'clock this afternoon. Mehemmed Reschad Effendi was proclaimed as Mehemmed V.

The city of Constantinople is alive with excitement, and throngs of the populace fill the streets. A number of arrests have been made, but the change of sovereigns was effected without disorder of any kind.

Among those who have been arrested under orders of the military dictatorship are Prince Sabah Eddine, a nephew of the Sultan, and all the members of his family. The prince has been a leader of the Young Turk party, and his apprehension is taken to mean that he has fallen under suspicion.

It is reported here that the Sultan was removed from the imperial palace of Yildiz and conveyed across the Bosphorus to a point in Asiatic Turkey.

Mehemmed Reschad Effendi, has lived practically a prisoner for 25 years in the large palace and gardens, and not far from Yildiz Kiosk. Since the July revolution, however, he has often been in the streets of Constantinople, looking from the carriage windows on the scenes in the thoroughfares, which must have been strangely interesting to him. He is gray-haired, not strong, either mentally or physically, and, although well educated, is inexperienced in the affairs of the world. He will have neither the power nor the will to struggle against the Constitutionists.

Reschad is a mystic hermit five years past three score—a tottering dotard, who has spent the years of his manhood in the contemplation of the teachings of Al Koran. He will be as malleable as clay in the hands of the men who will surround him, armed with the authority of parliament. Reschad will be Sultan only in name—unless the reactionary masses of the Moslem population of Asia overturn the present regime with a show of organized force which they have not yet demonstrated.

ABDUL II SAID TO BE DEAD.

Rumor That He Was Found Unconscious in Inner Room of Harem.

LONDON, April 27.—A despatch from Constantinople by a news agency says rumors are current in the Turkish capital that Abdul Hamid is dead. The troops who are said to have taken him from the palace last night found him unconscious on the floor in an inner room of the harem.

NEW DAY DAWNS FOR TURKEY.

Young Turks May Establish Government Having Support of World.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Official confirmation of the proclamation of a new Sultan in Turkey has not been received at the Turkish embassy in this city, nor is an announcement of the elevation of Mehemmed Reschad Effendi expected before night on account of the excitement attending such events. The press despatches of the day are accepted, however, as accurate.

Throughout diplomatic circles the general impression is that the enthroning of Mehemmed Reschad Effendi means a new era for the Ottoman empire. The decree for reform and the adoption of a constitutional government could never be realized in its fullness, it is felt, as long as Abdul Hamid was in power. With the reform movement freed from the obstacles put in its way by the reactionaries, who wielded power in Constantinople, it is urged that a new day has dawned for Turkey. Turkish officials speak of the new Sultan as possessing an able mind correct in his manner of living, kind, and with inclinations which will make him a constitutional sovereign.

The deposition of Abdul was not unexpected, notwithstanding his apparent stronghold on the people of Turkey, and no regret is expressed that he is to give up office. The opportunity now is for the Young Turk to establish a law-abiding form of government, which, if it meets exact justice to all classes, will have the support of the governments of the world. Under a careful administration they ought to be able to put Turkey in a position where she can hold her own among the nations of Europe, and give to the various nationalities, races and religions the blessings of constitutional law and a regular form of stable

ADANA SCENE OF FRESH OUTBREAK.

Missionaries Are in Danger Only Through Accident.

Mohammedans Very Careful to Avoid Killing Foreigners.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 27.—There was a fresh outbreak of fanaticism and murder last night at Adana, accompanied by looting and incendiarism. The situation there is critical.

There is a total of 33 American missionaries in Syria and the Silician district of the vilayet of Adana, where the conflicts between Mohammedans and Armenians are raging the fiercest. With the exception of D. M. Rogers, and Henry Maurer, who were killed at Adana, no one of them, so far as is known at the British or American embassies or by the officers here of the American Board of Foreign Missions, has been injured. The Mohammedans indulging in massacres and incendiarism are apparently very careful to avoid killing foreigners. When, in the midst of fighting at Adana, it became known to the Mohammedans that Messrs. Rogers and Maurer, who lost their lives while attempting to put out a fire in the house of a Turkish widow, were Americans, the fanatics ran away in alarm, and practically deserted that quarter of the town. The missionaries appear to be in danger only from accident arising from the fact they are in the midst of frightful conflicts, in which they bravely seek to protect Christian refugees and conciliate their assailants.

Rev. Stephen R. Trowbridge of the American Board of Foreign Missions, who is stationed at Aintab, was in Adana on the day of the fiercest fighting. He made a courageous but ineffectual attempt to protect an Armenian teacher. To this end he threw his arm round the man's neck and interposed his body between him and his assailants, but the Moslems shot the Armenian dead in Mr. Trowbridge's arms.

The greatest sympathy is felt for the American women missionaries who are alone at Hadjin, in the northeastern part of the vilayet of Adana. These women are now said to be Miss Virginia A. Billings of Kirtland, Ohio; Miss Emily E. Richter of Chicago; Miss Rose Lambert, a daughter of Bishop Lambert, and a Miss Baldwin. The two last mentioned women were sent out by the Mennonite Brethren of Christ of Ohio. Messrs. Rogers and Maurer were stationed at Hadjin. Christian refugees by the thousand are massed at Hadjin, and for ten days now the town has been threatened by Mohammedans, whose camps completely encircle it.

Rev. W. W. Peet, representative in Constantinople of the American Board of Foreign Missions, sent a telegram last Sunday to Rev. H. M. Irwin at Talas, Cesarea, instructing him to ask for a strong guard of troops and go immediately to Hadjin to the assistance of the beleaguered women. Hadjin is two days' journey on horseback from Cesarea. Telegraphic communication is interrupted, and there has been no answer from Mr. Irwin. Today Mr. Peet received a message much delayed in transmission, dated Hadjin, Friday, April 23. It says:

"Our sad condition is unchanged. We fear fire. The people are taking refuge in the churches. The outlook is terrible."

William Chambers, an American missionary at Adana, telegraphed Mr. Peet:

"There are terrible fires near the mission, which is in danger."

The lack of food, medical help and shelter is very great among both Armenians and Mohammedans in the distributed district. Mr. Peet has an admirable organization for the distribution of relief, if funds to this end should be sent him.

MEANING OF ACT NOT CLEAR.

Fifty Turkish Officers Arrested at Erzeroum by Their Troops.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 27.—Fifty Turkish officers have been arrested at Erzeroum by their troops, and dispatched under escort to Trebizond. The exact significance of this action is not yet clear, but it is feared that it means the beginning of revolt of the provincial troops against the Young Turk officers.

WILL NOT RAISE TEACHERS' PAY.

Minimum Salary Act Rejectd by the Senate.

House Passes New Militia Bill Without Debate.

[Special despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, April 27.—The senate today indulged in a discussion as to what school teachers shall be paid, as a result of a proposition of the State Board of Education to fix a minimum amount, in order that the general average throughout the state may be good, which would be a material change from present conditions. The proposed law would not affect the cities, but many towns would feel the results and the farmer members of the body rose in their might against the act. It was defeated by indefinite postponement by a vote which was under the quorum number. Attention to this was called, but indefinite postponement was allowed to go on the record.

The bill came from the committee on education, and recommended that the minimum pay for public school teachers be $400 for a 36-week school year. Senator Latham, in explaining, than that sum and the town which than that sumand the town which do not would only stand half the raise, as the state would pay the other half. He quoted figures to show what the changes would be. Foster would be affected most and the increase there would be $2,000 a year, or $1,000 for the town to provide. Johnston would be affected least, as the raise there would only net $1.42.

Senator Atchison of North Smithfield said that town had as good teachers as any and they received less than $400, and there is no need of legislative interference. He moved indefinite postponement.

Senator Mowry of South Kingstown said North Smithfield is one of the places which needs such a law. There are 17 teachers there well below the standard of the Board of Education, and the town does not seem disposed to come up to a reasonable standard in its educational affairs. He said it would not mean much to the towns, especially compared with the advantages to be gained, and in addition it would enable for teachers trained at the State Normal school to remain in the state rather than go out of it where their value is recognized and they receive living wages. If these should remain here in the state the school teachers of the state would average up well.

The vote on indefinite postponement was called for and 19 voted for postponement and 9 against. Senator Gorton did not vote. Senator McKenna called attention to the fact that there was no quorum voting and questioned the making of the record. His protest received no reply.

The committee on judiciary reported amendments to the banking laws, whereby building and loan associations are placed under the supervision of the bank examiner. The amendments were passed.

Senator Bowen of Warwick presented an act permitting that town to issue $100,000 of four per cent bonds, which was passed. This act is to take the place of one making the bonds 3½ per cent, which could not be disposed of.

Senator Bowen of Providence presented amendments to the court and practice act, which were referred to the committee on judiciary.

He also presented an act relative to the property rights of women, providing that they may realize support from their husbands' estates when the latter are in jail or otherwise confined, without securing authority from those so confined. Referred to the committee on judiciary.

In the house the militia bill, which was passed by the senate Friday, was received and passed in concurrence, without reference or discussion. It goes into effect May 1, and until that time the state militia will be cared for under the provisions of the old law.

The committee on corporations reported back the bill to incorporate the Blackstone Valley Gas & Electric Company, without the amendment which would prohibit the company from carrying stock of the Providence Gas Company and the Narragansett Electric Lighting Company which was asked for by the city council of Providence. Only three amendments proposed to the committee were recommended. One limits the capital stock to $6,000,000, another the bond issue to the same amount, and the third allows the new corporation to acquire property of another corporation if sanctioned by an eight-tenths vote of the stockholders of that corporation. The bill was placed on the calendar.

An act was passed providing for the incorporation of savings banks and trust companies.

Also, an act in amendment of chapter 92 of the General Laws, entitled "On suppression of certain nuisances."

Also, an act relating to the International Peace Conference.

Also, an act in amendment of chapter 29 of the General Laws, entitled "Medical examiners and coroners."

Also, an act prohibiting the licensing of persons not qualified as plumbers or drain layers.

Also, an act relating to interest and usury. This is the act introduced by Representative Cutler of Providence, prohibiting the charging of more than 24 per cent a year for money loaned.

Also, an act authorizing members of

TO DEPOSE THE SULTAN.

Caucus of Deputies and Senators Makes Decision.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 26.—The fate of Abdul Hamid II as reigning head of the house of Osman and commander of the faithful was signed and sealed today, when a caucus of deputies and senators voted to announce with the customary 101 guns at the Selamlik next Friday the accession of Mehemmed Reshad, his brother, to the throne. This momentous decision, which will close the bloodiest chapter in the history of Ottoman misrule, was reached with an unanimity and a freedom from demonstration of passion that in themselves constitute a notable feature of the reform movement.

It became apparent during the proceedings of the caucus that in the last tumultuous moments of his tumultuous reign of 30 years Abdul Hamid has lost completely the support of the Moslem hierarchy, upon whom he relied for support in the event of resistance to the new order of things. Mollahs, Softas, Hodjas, and the entire structure of the priesthood, not excluding the Sheik-ul-Islam himself, declared his throne forfeit to his misdeeds against church and state.

The grounds for the issuance of a canonical decree by the Sheik-ul-Islam for Abdul Hamid's deposition are that the Sultan's supremacy is harmful to the church contrary to the sacred law and unjust to the Turkish people. The program as agreed upon at the caucus is that a demand shall be made for the abdication of Abdul Hamid simultaneously from the highest court to the church, from the National Assembly and from the military chiefs. To the Sultan will be offered a palace and liberal allowances.

This afternoon witnessed the final act in the siege of the Yildiz, General Schefket, commander of the Constitutionalists, overawing the Albanians into surrender. This force, which was composed of 200 men, was stationed in the Imperial Palace. The Albanians were not engaged in the fighting Saturday, but they persistently refused to lay down their arms. Schefket Pasha sent up a strong body of Macedonians, and six field pieces were placed in a prominent position above the palace. Other guns were exposed on the neighboring heights, while troops commanded all the approaches.

The red flag continued however, to fly defiantly until 2 o'clock, when the watches saw it dropping slowly down the flagpole, making place for the white token of surrender. A few minutes later a crowd of refugees was seen pouring down the dusty road leading to Beshiktash, where they were fastened together with ropes and conducted under a military escort to the headquarters of the commission of inquiry.

The prisoners included servants, pages, eunuchs, secretaries and practically the entire male staff of the palace, as well as the famous fusiliers, the spoiled proteges of the Sultan. Their commander was arrested in disguise at Galata and severely handled and subjected to indignities.

The Salonikians showed great severity. Many of the arrested Softas, credited with being reactionaries, have been brutally treated. The vigorous search continues even into the European quarters.

It is estimated now that at least 10,000 prisoners are in the hands of the Salonikians. Those liable to severe punishment, such as the rebellious Saloniki Chasseurs, have been securely roped. Among the civilians arrested are Murad Bey, editor of the Mizan; Abdurrahman Effendi, Assistant minister of finance, and several high officials of the Porte. A number of reactionary newspapers have been suppressed.

Most of the American tourists have left the city. Ambassador Leishman, who has received many telegrams inquiring whether it is safe to visit Constantinople, has replied to these that such a course would be inadvisable, as the city is under martial law. Nevertheless, several Americans reached here today, including Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Moore.

Tewfik Pasha, the grand vizier, and the other members of the cabinet resigned today, but their resignations were not acted upon. Tahir Pasha, one of the commanders of the Yildiz garrison, has been degraded and dismissed from the army. Numerous other officials of the palace have been dismissed, while many women of the Sultan's harem, with their families, have been sent away. The senate and chamber of deputies in joint session requested the Ministers to remain in office for some days longer.

A CHILDISH ESCAPADE.

Boas Girl Desired to See the World and Went to Boston.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Adele Boas, the whimsical 15-year-old daughter of Arthur E. Boas, the millionaire thread manufacturer, is with her parents and relatives in the West Eighteenth street home tonight. The mystery of her disappearance on Friday last has been dispelled and the case resolves itself into nothing more than a naive childish escapade, with no other explanation than a sudden desire to see the world, Boston in particular, and a wish to be independent and to work for a living.

With the first shock of the meeting with her parents over, the child told of her movements in Boston. She had a job in a restaurant that was to have brought her $2.50 a week, with board and lodging. Saturday night and Sunday she spent in the room which she had rented. Her money by this time was practically exhausted—all but enough to get back to New York—and this morning she decided to return. She went to the South Station and was approached by an elderly man.

"The police are looking all over for you, Adele Boas," he said.

"My name is not Boas," she replied defiantly, and boarded the train for New York, only to be identified at Stamford, Conn., after she had tried in vain to dodge the persistent questioners, even resorting to the ruse of speaking broken English.

DECISION FOR MINNEAPOLIS.

Railroad Must Bridge Crossing, No Matter When Street Is Made.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—That a city can compel a railroad company to bridge its street crossings when the street has been established subsequent to the laying of the railroad tracks, just as it can when the tracks follow the laying out of the street, was in effect held by the Supreme Court of the United States today in deciding favorably to the city the case of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railroad Company and the Great Northern Railway Company vs. the city of Minneapolis. Today's decision sustained the Minneapolis supreme court. It was announced by Chief Justice Fuller.

MAKING READY FOR CENSUS.

Work to be Done Will be Most Costly Ever Yet Taken.

Forecast of Returns—Strategy in the Senate—The White House Cow—Visitors to the Supreme Court.

[Washington Correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The census appropriation bill which has been reported to the House this session has a paragraph that is aimed at what is called the bonding trust. It is common talk in departmental circles that certain companies which get a great deal of this business appear to have called the attention of Congressmen to the conspiracy, as they term it. If this "rider" to the appropriation bill goes through—and it has the support of practically both Republicans and Democrats on the House committee—the plans of some people are going to be interfered with. The census to be taken next year, it is estimated, will cost not less than $14,000,000. It will be the most comprehensive ever undertaken by any government. The sum of $10,000,000 will be voted as a starter to do the bulk of the work in 1910, when the population is to be enumerated. The other $4,000,000 will be forthcoming later.

By November 1 of next year the returns as to population all will be in such shape that the census bureau will be able to announce exactly the total number of people in the United States at the time the enumeration is made. Some time before that the bureau will commence to issue bulletins as to the number of people in the chief cities. In 1911 detailed returns will be available for Congress to figure on the next apportionment under which Congressional districts will be re-arranged in the various states. It is conceded on all hands that Texas will easily pass Missouri as the fifth state in the Union. In the present House Texas and Missouri have the same number of Representatives, 16. Massachusetts now has 14, and the indications are the old Bay State will probably be entitled under the next census to rank as seventh. Iowa and Michigan may possibly push Indiana close for eighth place in the list of commonwealths.

Senator Kean of New Jersey appears to have been selected by Mr. Aldrich this session to make most of the motions for the Senate to go into executive session. This is a cute dodge of the real managers of things in that body when they want to shut down the brakes so as to prevent consideration of certain bills or resolutions that are likely to be debated. The program is to consider practically nothing outside of the tariff and the census bills this session, and just enough nominations are coming to make an excuse for closing the doors and taking them up. The managers are able every now and then to shut off debate which might stir up contention likely to open up a flood of talk. Mr. Aldrich is shrewd enough to keep the debate running along in a prosy way, hoping that soon most of the Senators will get tired of it and be willing to have an early vote on the tariff bill. If it begins to get too lively, Mr. Kean at a favorable opportunity moves for an executive session, and then a majority of the Senators are apt to leave the chamber.

The White House cow continues to attract the attention of visitors to the nation's Capital. At first it was supposed by people from a distance that it was all a joke about the Tafts having bought a cow in order to supply their table daily with the freshest and best of milk. But now when they observe "Sookey" energetically nipping the splendid grass on the White House lawns they are able to go back to their homes and tell their friends that they really have seen the cow, and this is not a newspaper yarn put out by some wag among the writers. When the Daughters of the American Revolution were here they saw a great deal of the cow, for she grazes on the lawn not far from the hall which was erected by this society of patriotic women. Some people say that if it had occurred to President Roosevelt to have purchased a cow he would have astonished the country by going out and milking it himself occasionally in full view of the public.

There is universal desire on the part of excursionists who come to Washington to see the Supreme Court in session. The small room in which this august tribunal holds forth has very limited seating capacity. It is necessary, therefore, after the cushioned benches are nearly all filled, to let the people in and out by twos and threes, and the floors are heavily carpeted so that the movement of feet may not disturb the nine solemn judges in their silken robes while they listen to the arguments of the lawyers. As a rule, the visitors do not remain many minutes in the courtroom, and a stream passes on in single line as the attendants signal them.

ALL APRIL RECORDS EXCEEDED.

Wool Importations Through Boston So Far Over 20,000,000 Pounds.

BOSTON, April 26.—Figures available today in connection with the textile situation in New England, which, as a rule, absorbs more than half the foreign wool consumed in the entire country, show that importations of wool through Boston have thus far this month exceeded all previous records for the month of April since 1897. The total for the month to date has been in excess of 20,000,000 pounds, of an estimated value of $8,000,000. Last year the importations for the entire month of April were less than 7,000,000 pounds.

In every normal year the American manufacturer is under the necessity of importing more than half his wool supply. The strong demand for the wool which set in last fall, and which left the market at the beginning of the year almost bare of domestic stocks, has been responsible for the rushing forward of foreign supplies. Since January 1 the total amount of wool imported at Boston has been more than 70,000,000 pounds, as compared with about 25,000,000 in the similar period of last year. This year's is the largest figure for wool imports at Boston over that period since 1905. In that year the total was close to 60,000,000 pounds.

REBATE CASE DISMISSED.

Supreme Court Decision Made at Instance of Great Northern.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The case of the government against the Great Northern railway, in which that company was fined $5,000 for granting rebates on shipments of sugar for the American Sugar Refining Company, was today dismissed by the Supreme Court of the United States, at the instance of the company. The case involved the same points which were involved in the New York Central case, recently decided in favor of the government, in which the fine imposed was $108,000.

TEN YEARS AT HARD LABOR.

Sentence of John Lambert, Seven Times Deserter from Navy, May Discourage Such Action.

A remarkable series of enlistments and desertions by one man in the United States navy came to light Monday, when Secretary Meyer approved the unusually severe sentence of ten years at hard labor in the naval prison at Boston, imposed on John J. Lambert, an apprentice seaman, who was tried recently at Boston. Lambert's record shows that he enlisted seven times in the navy in various parts of the United States, each time under a different name, and after a short period of service deserted from his station. His apparent object was to secure each time the $60 clothing allowance given to recruits. He first enlisted at Boston in 1905. Secretary Meyer said he hoped the heavy sentence would discourage future desertions.

NAVAL NOTES.

Following an inquiry into the recent escape of five prisoners from the naval prison at Charlestown, Mass., Captain Charles O. Carpenter, commanding there, has been detached on the ground that he was not sufficiently strict in prison discipline. The prisoners have not been re-captured.

Owing to the strict examination of the midshipmen at the Naval Academy at Annapolis as to their physical condition many have been forced to resign. This fact has been discouraging to many of the young officers, but hope is now extended to them through the fact that there is now a chance that midshipmen who upon graduation are found slightly defective in the physical examination will be regarded as eligible to take the examination for appointment as second lieutenants in the coast artillery corps.

Instances of police magistrates suspended sentences of youthful culprits on their promise to join the navy continue to reach the Navy Department. The policy of the department to strongly rebuke all these cases found to be true will be closely followed. The latest reports are those of the mayoyr of Medina, Ohio, and the judge of a local court in Des Moines, Ia. In both instances the matter reached the recruiting officers of the district who prevented the enlistments and reported the matter to the department.

PERSONALS.

....The condition of Frederick Moore, the American correspondent, who was shot while watching the fighting at Constantinople Saturday, is causing anxiety. His wound may prove to be more serious than at first supposed. The surgeons in attendance will not be able for two or three days to give a definite opinion as to whether his spine is injured.

....James Thomas Williams, Jr., of South Carolina has been appointed a civil service commissioner by President Taft. Mr. Williams, who succeeds Henry F. Greene, who resigned several weeks ago, acted as secretary to National Chairman Hitchcock during the first part of the recent Presidential campaign and later accompanied Mr. Taft on his long campaign trip. Mr. Williams was a newspaperman in Washington.

The value of the toy train and railroad which the czar has just despatched to Pekin as a gift to the three-year-old Emperor Pu Yi of China is estimated at $60,000. The toy will be presented to the tiny monarch of the most populous empire of the universe by Prince Galitzin, general aide-de-camp of the Muscovite ruler and chief of the special embassy appointed to represent Russia at the state obsequies of the late Emperor of China next month.

....Despite all the influence which the Duke of the Abruzzi managed to bring to bear upon the British crown government, he was unable to obtain that permission to enter either Nepal or Tibet which was indispensable to the execution of his project of attempting to make the ascent of Mount Everest. The latter can be reached only through Nepaul or Tibet, and it was in order to endeavor to secure this permission, which England has pledged herself by treaties with Nepaul and with Tibet not to accord to any European, that the duke made so many visits to London this spring.

....Bishop James A. McFaul of the Roman Catholic diocese of Trenton does not think very highly of woman suffrage. In discussing this interesting topic recently the Bishop said: "...women today are opposed to departing from their own domestic sphere and usurping the place occupied by men; and men, as a rule, have too much regard and affection for their mothers, sisters and wives that they [illegible] anything tending to bring women into the rough struggle with men. Much has been said in favor of woman suffrage and against it, every man and woman realizes that 'the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world.'"

WE LAY US DOWN TO SLEEP.

[Louise Chandler Moulton.]

We lay us down to sleep,
And leave to God the rest;
Whether to wake and weep,
Or wake no more be best.

Why vex our souls with care?
The grave is cool and low;
Have we found life so fair
That we should dread to go?

We've kissed love's sweet, red lips,
And left them sweet and red.
The rose the wild bee sips
Blooms on when he is dead.

Some faithful friends we've found,
But those who love us best,
When we are under ground,
Will laugh on with the rest.

No task have we begun
But other hands can take;
No work beneath the sun
For which we need to wake.

Then hold us fast, sweet Death,
If so it seemeth best
To Him who gave us breath
That we should go to rest.

We lay us down to sleep,
Our weary eyes we close;
Whether to wake and weep,
Or wake no more, He knows.

FANCIES.

These tales of Africa will lose
Ere long their 'customed thrill;
'Neath warmer skies we can't enthuse
O'er jungles hot and still.
The zebra and the chimpanzee
Will lose their mystic power.
The ice-bound polar bear will be
The envy of the hour.

THE PLAIN TRUTH

What More Can Newport People Ask?

When well-known residents and highly-respected people of Newport make such statements as the following, it must carry conviction to every reader:

Charles Parrott, Tailor, 16 Park Street, Newport, R I, says: "My back and kidneys troubled me for about a year. Mornings when I arose, my back ached severely and there was a lameness in the region of my kidneys which made it difficult for me to straighten. I felt tired all the time, lacked energy and was in no fit condition to work. I had to rise often at night to void the kidney secretions and the passages were at times attended with pain. I was told by a person who had been wonderfully benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills to give them a trial and I accordingly procured a box at Wright & Hay's drug store. The results that followed their use were satisfactory and I continued taking the remedy until the backache ceased and the other symptoms of my trouble disappeared. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me from a weak and run down condition to one of health and strength and I am very grateful to them for effecting this great change."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

THE MOTHS AND THE TREES.

There is one matter not on the calendar of the Representative Council meeting this evening which might well be called up, that of the prevention of damage by tussock and other moths. During the past winter the State Board of Agriculture had men here who did considerable in the matter of exterminating the tussock moth and something has already been said about their work. It seems as though the city should take a hand in this matter and try to secure some concerted action on the part of citizens. There are gardeners in the Council who are well qualified to speak on this subject, and perhaps one of these may feel that it is of sufficient importance to ask leave to introduce a resolution providing for some action.

Just what action should be taken will naturally occur to the mind of a gardener, trained in such matters. It might be that a sub-committee of the Council, if appointed to have charge of the matter, could arrange with tree owners in the several wards to co-operate with the committee in doing all possible to prevent the spoiling of the foliage by the action of the tussock or any other moth. If the meeting is not too long, so that the members become tired, this matter might well come up. It has not been suggested before because of the superabundance of business which promised to keep the Council occupied till long after it was able quietly and carefully to transact business.

BEFORE THE YILDIZ KIOSK.

In regard to the situation in Turkey, the remarkable thing is that what has happened now did not happen nine months ago. It would have been the natural thing if the Sultan, with his carefully selected palace garrison, the only part of the Turkish army which is well and promptly paid, had met the demands of the Young Turks with force when they were presented in July. That the Sultan should have yielded to their demands, and good-humoredly announced that he had accepted the presidency of the Committee of Union and Progress, was a cause of universal astonishment. It was too good to be true, and it wasn't true. The Sultan had only pretended to accept the reform movement. When he found that the sentiment of reform had thoroughly permeated the Second and Third army corps he concluded that discretion was the better part of valor and yielded gracefully. He astonished the world by his docility; he was merely watching for his chance.

It came with certain cabinet complications. In the meanwhile the emissaries of the Sultan had been going through the empire assuring the faithful everywhere that the Young Turks and the "giaours" had formed a combination to dethrone the Caliph and put Christians above Moslems. It is not necessary to suppose that formal orders for a massacre of Christians were issued from Yildiz Kiosk; that would hardly be needed. All that was necessary was to inflame Moslem fanaticism; if the magazine were ready the spark would fall into it soon enough. There are always irritations between the Moslems and the Christians. There might be a street fight—it matters not which was the aggressor. An Armenian may have cheated a Turk in a trade, or a Moslem debtor may have concluded to wipe out his obligations by burning the bazaar of an Armenian banker. With public sentiment properly inflamed, the ordinary every-day incidents of life in such a population as that of Turkey would account for the massacres which began at Adana and spread eastward, and may have cost 25,000 [illegible].

This sort of thing was calculated to [illegible] the reformers, to lead them to [illegible], to break up the parliament and to rally to the Sultan all the soldiers, who are Moslems. No Christians are received in the army; they pay a commutation tax instead of rendering military service. Means were taken to make the palace guard, even the troops put there by the Constitutional leaders, loyal to the Sultan, but the calculations were not realized. The Second and Third army corps proved loyal to their officers, who are Constitutionalists, and not to the Sultan.

When the Constitutional troops reached the vicinity of Constantinople the Sultan was ready to negotiate with them and compromise. That is what he did last July. The Constitutionalists trusted him then and he had betrayed them. His emissaries had stirred up the soldiers of the palace garrison to mutiny against their officers. Some were killed and many were thrown into prison. The Sultan's purpose to break up the parliament and the constitution was perfectly apparent and the leaders of the reform movement insisted upon unconditional surrender. The result was the attack of the Constitutional troops upon the garrison of Constantinople, which, outside of the palace grounds, was over-powered in a few hours. At the Yildiz Kiosk the Constitutional troops paused for two reasons; there was artillery in the palace grounds, while there had been none at the barracks where the earlier fighting occurred, and, which was of more importance, the Constitutional troops are Moslems and the Sultan is not only their king but their Caliph. They could not trust him, but they would not do violence to his person and his residence if it could be avoided.

The Constitutionalists, officers and men, from the corps commanders down to the privates, have shown remarkable firmness, courage and determination in their support of the program of political liberty, all the more remarkable because they are Moslems and the Christians are extensive beneficiaries of the reform. Not less are they to be commended for their moderation in doing as much fighting as was absolutely necessary, but not a bit more fighting than the preservation of the newly acquired liberties demanded.

OVER-TIRED WOMEN.

It is a general complaint among women today that they are always tired, and that in the rush and hurry and bustle of the modern life there is little time for rest. Besides the various household duties there are the clubs, the receptions, the teas and dinners which the average woman feels compelled to attend, no matter how frail her body or overwrought her nerves. Man rarely over-drives an engine or his horses, and yet woman will drag along her poor fretted body until she has absolutely no strength left and then be surprised to find herself a martyr to nerves, bad-tempered, and showing how relentlessly nature takes her revenge and marks with no uncertain hand her disapproval of the violations of her laws, in drawn lines on the face, a fading complexion, and weariness of carriage of the figure. Every woman who desires to keep young and enjoy the pleasures of life should constantly remember to spare herself fatigue and learn to know that the laws of sensible, sane living are inexorable, and that all are compelled some day to honor the draft they draw on strength and vitality.

Many of these women whose time is full of social engagements and who realize that the pace set is too fast for them to follow are advised by their physicians to take up more of the duties of the home, to taste oftener the joys of the simple life, and are told that they will be surprised to find how soon under the benign influences of work the problems of life will grow less complicated. Giving up a few of the receptions and teas which are not missed in the course of the year, and devoting an hour a day to hard work which will clear the brain and leave no room for worry or fretting will prove a saving of time and strength for the woman of affairs, for it will break the monotony of the social strain and make life brighter and easier in every way.

To have and to hold a place in the social life of the world is not only the right but the duty of every woman who desires to live her life in the truest and best sense. But this is not to be done at the expense of continued ill-health and over-tired nerves, thus making what should be the pleasures of life a duty and in many cases a torture. If the tired women of today would take the advice of their physicians and find more resting places along the way what a difference it would make in the happiness of their lives.

President Paul Morton of the Equitable Life Assurance Society sat in his New York office and, speaking into an ordinary telephone receiver, sent his adieus to 160 agents and officers at the Pittsburg office, 444 miles away. Every inflection of his voice was heard by the men gathered in the company's rooms to receive the message. This was successfully accomplished by means of the telemegaphone, a new instrument constructed for the speaking of sound through an ordinary telephone wire. Distance is being rapidly annihilated by the use of electrical devices.

Now that the big metropolitan papers are establishing their own wireless telegraph plants, to seize out of the air such news items as may be afloat, it is understood that a plant is to be erected at Kingston Hill to intercept messages sent to the Torpedo Station which government officials may not be inclined to give out because of their private or secret nature. The result of this new enterprise on the part of newspapers may result in the using of the navy code in all messages, instead of only the more secret.

The American navy has again successfully interfered in Central American affairs. Commander Benson of the cruiser Albany having nipped in the bud the first open military expedition which President Zelaya of Nicaragua has attempted since the American war vessels took control in Central American waters.

Four cruisers from the Atlantic and three from the Pacific are to protect American interests in Turkey if their presence is necessary. It will be several days before they can reach Turkish ports, and the American ships may not be needed after all. It is as well, however, for them to be in the vicinity.

If Boston is to have a world's fair in 1920, to commemorate the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims, it is none too early to begin to talk about it or to begin work for it. A successful world's fair requires years of planning and preparation.

Rear Admiral Ijichi, commander of the Japanese training squadron now visiting California ports, has been talking with Rear Admiral Evans of the United States navy, and both agree that war between Japan and the United States is impossible.

Mohammed Reschad Effendi has been placed on the throne of Turkey. A sultan by any name might be as efficient as Abdul Hamid.

JUDGE BAKER SCORES RECKLESS DRIVERS.

Judge Darius Baker of this city, who in the superior court at Kingston Monday sentenced John Welford, alias John Smith, a chauffeur, to 30 days in the Providence County jail, in pronouncing sentence, said that the automobile driven in a reckless manner is today a great menace to the traveling public "It is not enough for the operator to say when an accident occurs that it was an error of judgment," he said. "The automobile is a dangerous machine and an operator needs to exercise great care. The cowardly, dastardly conduct of those who run away after an accident occurs need to be forcibly dealt with. There is no way to stop this sort of thing unless the courts punish the men responsible."

OLD HOME WEEK AT ALEXANDRIA.

Alexandria, Va., is engaged in the celebration of "Old Home Coming Week." The city has been elaborately decorated, and thousands of former residents have returned to take part in the celebration. The feature of the week's festivities will occur Friday, the one hundred and twentieth anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington as President of the United States, on which occasion the dedication of Washington Park, directly west of the city, will take place. Masonic ceremonies and a parade, reviewed by President Taft, Vice President Sherman, Speaker Cannon and members of Congress will mark the event. The famous Richmond Blues will act as President Taft's military escort. Governor Swanson of Virginia will deliver a memorial address at the dedication.

PLANS FOR THE MISSISSIPPI'S TRIP.

Plans are completed for the trip of the new battleship Mississippi up the Mississippi river, visiting ports as far north as Natchez. The ship will leave Guantanamo about May 1, reaching New Orleans about May 6. Six days will be spent at New Orleans, where a series of entertainments have been planned for the officers and crew.

The Mississippi will then proceed, May 12, to Donaldsonville, arriving the same day and remaining there two days. The next visit will be at Plaquemine, where one day will be spent. Three days the Mississippi will remain at anchor at Baton Rouge after she arrives there, May 15. Bayou Sara, the next port up the river to be called at, will be reached May 18, and a stop of two days made. The Mississippi will reach Natchez May 21. Here during a four days' stay more entertainments are planned for the officers and crew, the return trip down the river to begin May 25.

MUSIC FOR TWO PIANOS.

At the forthcoming recital of music for two pianos, by Mr. Walter Ruel Cowles of St. George's School and Mr. Alfred G. Langley of this city, Mr. Frederick Weld, baritone soloist of St. Bartholomew's Church, New York, will be the assisting artist. Occasions are rare when the Newport public has an opportunity to hear music works specially written for two pianos. Mr. Weld is one of the most prominent New York singers and was chosen by Walter Damrosch, conductor of the New York Symphony, as soloist with the orchestra on the annual southern tour. The following are patronesses of the recital: Miss Diman, Mrs. Amos T. French, Mrs. Stanley C. Hughes, Mrs Lyman C. Josephs, Mrs. Stuyvesant LeRoy, Mrs. Bradford Norman, Mrs. Harford H. Powel, Mrs. Arthur S. Roberts, Mrs. Charles L. F. Robinson, Mrs. Edward Sturtevant, Mrs. Alan R. Wheeler.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Mr. William H. Butler arrived in Fall River at 1 A. M. Sunday and by taking a carriage reached home at 3 A. M. He has not been well for some time, the water in California not agreeing with him, and his long and hurried journey across the continent greatly fatigued him. His son remains about the same.

Mrs. Charles Clarke and her sons and Miss Kate L. Durfee were guests Sunday of Mrs. W. Anthony.

Inquiries have been made through Boston papers quite frequently of late for the heirs of a Joseph C. Dennis, at one time a resident of Providence, who about the Civil War time bought land in one of the Western states which has now become valuable timber land. He is now thought to be Joseph C. Dennis, formerly of Middletown, most of whose large family of children married and settled in Portsmouth, Middletown and Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Gray and family have gone to Prudence Island for the summer, where Mr. Gray and his brother are engaged in fishing.

Mrs. Ernest Littlefield, who is in poor health, is at the home of her father, Mr. William Sisson of Middletown.

Mrs. Sarah King Birckhead is to have her summer home, "Eastover," near Sandy Point Farm, put in readiness for the summer.

Mr. George Elliott has so far recovered from the injury to his ankle as to go about the farm on crutches, and occasionally to Newport.

Mr. Leroy Dennis, a conductor on the Newport & Fall River road, was married to Miss Mattie Egan of North Tiverton April 14. Miss Egan was employed at the Park last summer.

Mr. Abner Smith and Miss Cora Silva of Fall River spent Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith's.

AROUND RHODE ISLAND.

Do Sandwiches at a Drinking Table Constitute "Food?"

Plans for New East Providence Passenger Station—Death of North Scituate Pastor.

Whether a few sandwiches on a table around which men sit drinking will be considered as "food" under the liquor laws, and will prevent the punishment of certain tavern keepers on charges of violation of the Sunday liquor law, is a question up for decision in Woonsocket as a result of police visits to two prominently known hotels in that city Sunday. Acting under orders from Chief of Police Boston, and in line with Mayor Mullen's policy of having a clean Sunday, patrolmen, in plain clothes, visited hotels and made report to Chief Boston that they found 37 men seated around tables in seven different rooms at one hotel and that liquor or beer was in front of the men and some were drinking. Sandwiches or plates that appeared to have contained sandwiches were on every table. The officers went across the street into the other hotel, and in two rooms found 13 men drinking, they state. Sandwiches were also in evidence.

The approval of plans for a new passenger station in East Providence is announced. The building will be located on the south side of Watchemoket square and will be of steel, brick, concrete and stucco with stone trimmings and a roof of red tile. The contract probably will be awarded during the coming month, and the building will be ready for tunnel passengers before the end of the year. According to the plans made public East Providence will have a large and well arranged railway building. The area covered is 31 by 70 feet, and the station is to be 30 feet south of Watchemoket square. The floor is of re-inforced concrete supported on steel columns and girders, and covers the platform on the track level. The station thus has two floors, the lower being used only for entering and leaving trains and for transferring baggage and express packages. Concrete and steel are the materials specified for the basement. The upper walls have a stone base and brick wainscoting with stucco above the window sills. The red tiling on the roof is expected to be an attractive feature of the station and the substantial character of the building and its large area appear to indicate that the New Haven management considers East Providence one of the most important points between the Seekonk river and Fall River.

Rev. Robert L. Duston, pastor of the Free Baptist Church of North Scituate, died at the parsonage in that town Sunday of typhoid pneumonia. He had been ill about one week. Rev. Mr. Duston was born in Lewiston, Maine, and at the time of his death was 51 years old. He spent his boyhood days in Auburn, Me., attending the theological school at Bates College, from which he was graduated. After being admitted to the ministry he took up his first pastorate in Buxton, Maine, remaining two years; from there he went in turn to East Rochester, N. H., Rockland, Maine, Houlton, Maine, Portsmouth, N. H., St. Johnsbury, Vt., and then to his recent pastorate at the Free Baptist Church of North Scituate, entering into his duties Easter Sunday, April 15, 1906. Mr. Duston had always been active in his church and in enterprises for the upbuilding of the community. He was also active in the building up of the Free Public Library Association. He conducted the regular Sunday services at the Rockland Church and was greatly liked in that village.

The directors of the Woonsocket Rubber Company at the annual meeting Monday elected Walter S. Ballou of Providence president to succeed Colonel Samuel P. Colt, who declined re-election. Mr. Ballou entered the employ of the company 41 years ago as a boy, sweeping out the office. Monday he was also re-elected general manager, a position which he had held for the past year. He is also a member of the executive committee of the United States Rubber Company. Clarence H. Guild was chosen secretary and treasurer, George Schlosser superintendent and Henry Wagner assistant superintendent. Before the organization by the board of directors the stockholders met in regular session and elected last year's board. At Providence the Bantigan Rubber Company re-elected the old board of directors and the latter body re-elected Walter S. Ballou president, general manager and secretary and chose John J. Watson, Jr., treasurer. The National India Rubber Company of Bristol in the annual meeting at Bristol elected the old board of directors and the latter body deferred organization until later.

An electricity driven machine for counting and wrapping coins in packages, now in operation in the basement of the Rhode Island Hospital Trust Company, Providence, is the first machine of the kind used in Rhode Island. It is a product of Rhode Island mechanical skill, having been built by the Taft-Pierce Manufacturing Company of Woonsocket. This machine does the work of ten men, requires only one attendant, and is a factor in handling the banking business of the Rhode Island Company, all the coins collected daily by conductors being counted and wrapped in paper, securely sealed at both ends, with varying accuracy and at a speed not possible in hand work. The machine therefore has made the handling of trolley receipts attractive and economical. The coins are emptied into a hopper, a small electric motor is started, and nickels, dimes and quarters travel at great speed through a runway and are delivered in packages properly marked at the other side of the machine which occupies about the space required for two typewriters. The inventor is Charles S. Batdorf, president of the Automatic Coin-Wrapping Machine Company of New York.

By signing an agreement with the town of Westerly in which he agreed not to violate the criminal laws of the state Albert B. Collins, a Westerly druggist, convicted of keeping a liquor nuisance, secured the deferring of sentence for the crime of which he had been found guilty. The deferring of sentence is conditional and will continue as long as Mr. Collins maintains his part of the agreement, which was approved by Assistant Attorney General Harry P. Cross. Collins was at Kingston to receive sentence on the nuisance conviction, first made in the district court of Westerly, then in the superior court, and then taken to the supreme court, where the exceptions taken by Collins's counsel were overruled and the case returned to the superior court for sentence.

One of the most progressive steps taken this year by the Young Men's Christian Association at Brown University has been the securing of a conference at the university of the Greater Boston Student Volunteer League. This will be held Saturday and Sunday, May 1 and 2, and delegates will be present from Boston University, Gordon Training School, Hasseltine House, Radcliffe, Harvard, Newton Theological Seminary and Wellesley. The committee in charge has been fortunate in securing speakers of pronounced ability including: Dr. T. S. Barbour of the American Baptist Missionary Union; Harry Wade Hicks, general secretary of the Young People's Missionary Movement; J. Lovell Murray, formerly a missionary in India and now mission study secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement; David Z. T. Yui of China; Dr. S. M. Zwemer, a missionary to the Mohammedans in Arabia and now candidate secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement. The sessions of the conference will begin Saturday evening, the opening meeting being devoted to mission study. Sunday will be occupied by four sessions, with addresses and open discussions on missionary questions.

Governor Charles E. Hughes of New York will preside at the Brown University Commencement dinner, June 16, and Senator Elihu Root will be one of the speakers. Others will be President W. H. P. Faunce, Governor Aram J. Pothier and Dr. W. W. Keen of Philadelphia. The usual base ball game will follow, on Andrews Field, and the president's reception will take place in the evening. The baccalaureate sermon will be preached by President Faunce in the First Baptist Church Sunday afternoon, June 13. Monday, June 14, will be Class day, and the exercises will be held for the first time on the middle campus. Tuesday will be Alumni day for the university and Ivy day for the Women's College. The associated alumni will hold their annual meeting in the afternoon and President Faunce has accepted the invitation of the alumni to speak on the work of the past year. George F. Bean, chairman of the Alumni Advisory Council, will report on the work accomplished by that body. James E. Creighton of Cornell University will deliver the oration before the Phi Beta Kappa.

President Taft has nominated Dr. John William Keefe of Providence as a first lieutenant in the army, as a member of the medical reserve corps, an auxiliary organization created by Congress last year. Dr. Keefe will remain in Providence in active practice, the medical reserve corps not being called upon for active field duty in times of peace.

"HEREDITY."

Mr. Bliss's Paper Presents Different Theories in Explanation.

President Taylors Observations on Various Phases of Bird Life in Ireland.

Mr. Richard Bliss read the principal paper Monday evening at the meeting of the Natural History Society, having for his subject "Heredity." After explaining that the time at his disposal would allow only a brief review of an extensive field of speculation and experiment, he proceeded to give an interesting lecture.

It is, he said, a matter of common observation that all the forms of the living world, animal and plant alike, tend to reproduce themselves. The young nettle, for example, has the shape, color and "nettleness" of the plant which produced it; the young child bears the physical and mental qualities of its parents. This fact is well known and undisputable, but the questions "how" and "why" are not so easily answered.

If the offspring, for instance, inherited only its mother's qualities the problem would be much simpler, particularly in the case of the human offspring, which during the period of gestation receives a direct supply of food from its mother, by means of which we might conceive the inherited characteristics to be transmitted directly. But the child sometimes resembles the father even more than the mother, and in any event the qualities of both parents are traceable, whatever be the preponderance. Not only so, but in occasional instances, the characters of the grandparent, and even ancestors farther back (characters often wanting in the immediate parents) appear in the child.

How, then, are we to account for the transmission of physical, much more of mental, characteristics of father and mother, bearing in mind the fact that the only vehicle for the transmission of the parental characters is a protoplasmic body so small as to be visible only under the microscope, the spermatozoon or male element, and a similar minute protoplasmic mass called the ovum. These two bodies are the germinal elements and they constitute the only substance which passes from one generation to another.

Many theories to explain this have been advanced from time to time and Mr. Bliss mentioned several. For instance, from the fact that a flower bud when split shows the complete elements of the future flower, it was reasoned that the human germinal element contains in miniature a complete but microscopic human being, which developed with the enlargement of the ovum. Then there were the animalists and the ovulists, two schools of investigators, whose views differed and led to much discussion. Darwin set forth a theory of pangenesis, claiming that the body is filled with "pangens." The blood, viscera, brains, etc., have their pangens which when brought together in the ovum and fertilized reproduce the characteristics of that part of the body whence each originated.

All the older theories were changed when Nussbaum, and especially Weismann, brought forward the germ-plasm theory. The germ cell is assumed by Weismann to be comprised of separate material particles known as determinants. A complete set of determinants, in which every part of the organism is represented, constitutes an id. Half of these are derived from either parent, so that several ids derived from each parent are present in every germ cell. Each id contains the possibility or directing substance—generic, specific and individual—of a new organism. It is indeed a veritable microcosm.

Each new individual begins life as a nucleated cell. The first division of the cell, according to Weismann, is a homogeneous division called "doubling." From these first divisions a chain of similar doubling divisions stretches along the so-called "germ tract," thus marshalling unaltered germ plasm to the generative organs of the new individual, to be ready to form the germ cells of the next generation. This has been called the "immortality of the germ plasm."

Mendel (1822-1884) evolved another theory, which attracted little attention from the scientific world until comparatively recent date. According to this theory each Mendelian character is represented by a parental or maternal determinant only, and not by both. Thus, not only are all immediate ancestors not represented in the germ cells in respect of any particular character, but only one of the parents is so represented, to the complete exclusion apparently of the other parent. It would seem that the germ cells contain one set of determinants only—a single id—while the somatic or body cells contain two ids only.

President A. O'D. Taylor offered some observations on various phases of bird life relating to Ireland. As regards the immigration of various species from Great Britain into Ireland, this is great at certain seasons of the year, particularly on the shores of Leinster. These shores are but little indented, thus favoring the landing of migratory birds. The other three parts of Ireland—Ulster, Minster and Connaught—are deeply cut up by bays and irregularities, and oppose to the ocean a vast extent of rocky cliffs. The west of Ireland possesses numerous peninsulas, surmounted by mountain chains. In the west are many lakes of great beauty, which are specially attractive to water birds.

There is an influx of birds into Ireland in autumn from Great Britain, Great Britain having first derived many of them from the southern European continent. Quantities of song thrushes, blackbirds, starlings, redwings, larks, golden-coated wrens and chaffinches come there, and particularly to the mild seaboard of County Kerry, which seems to be their ultimate resort in winters severe elsewhere.

Birds of American species are occasionally found in Ireland, but they have probably been specimens brought over in confinement, and either purposely let loose by steamer passengers, or else they have been birds perched on vessels near the American coast and thus brought over. They are the American robin, purple martin, crested kingfisher, yellowbilled cuckoo, blackbilled cuckoo, American goshawk, passenger pigeon and Canada goose.

The society was given 11 mounted specimens of Irish birds by the president, who spoke concerning them. The 11 specimens had been obtained by a cousin of Mr. Taylor, Mr. Robert Warren, an Irish ornithologist well known in scientific circles for the past half-century. The prepared skins had been mounted in Providence by the taxidermists, Angell & Cash. In addition to the Latin scientific name, the novel addition was made of giving the Irish name as well, the latter as pronounced. The common crow or rook (Corvus frugilgus) or called in the Irish language Pray-ach-awn; the lapwing or green plover (Vanellus vulgaris) the [illegible]; the blackbird (Turdus Merula) the Lun dhuv; the song thrush (Turdus Musicus), the "Smolugh"; the lark (Alauda awensis) the "fwish-ng-" the pied wagtail (Motacilla lugubris) the "Glaeogue," that is to say, the little grey thing; the grey wagtail, a beautiful species marked with yellow, is the "Shavnuneen-a-vuher," which means little Jonny of the road. Specimens of the green linnet or greenfinch, titlark, rock pipit and chaffinch were also shown, and their habits briefly explained.

Mr. Taylor closed by giving some interesting notes on writers of Irish ornithology. These may be briefly summed up thus: Mr. William Thompson published three volumes in 1849-51 on the Birds of Ireland, a standard work of reference. Watters in 1853 published a small work on popular lines. There was then a long interval until in 1885 a List of Irish Birds was published by A. G. More; a second edition appeared in 1890. This is an admirable work. In 1890 appeared the "Birds of Ireland," a large volume by Richard J. Ussher and Robert Warren, with colored plates, maps and other illustrations. It is from this last work that the Irish names of some of the birds were taken in the present communication.

MACKEREL AT LAST.

The First Catch Reported and Almost All Kinds of Fish Now Coming Along.

While it still feels far fom hot, the local fishing season can be said to be on. Of course no swordfish or horse mackerel have been caught yet, but about everything else has. Today C. B. Anderson's steamer Vigilant brought in 80 pounds of scup and 40 of butterfish, some of which were caught up the bay. Macomber & Nickerson and the Seaconnet River Oyster Company also brought in about half a bushel each. C. A. Easterbrooks had half a barrel of striped bass.

This is not all, for Captain Lewis of steamer Wiona of the Seaconnet River Oyster Company had two mackerel and Macomber & Nickerson had two also, which weighed eight and a half pounds. This arrival of mackerel is the last cap to the climax. Up to Saturday only 15 barrels had been landed at New York this season, against about 2,000 barrels at the same time last year, but if the mackerel are off here there may be a chance for the catchers to do something finally. There is a hustle all around to put gear in and be ready for the fish, which are close by, judging by what has been landed today.

The first shark of the season, at Lawton's market, and the first lumpfish, at Easterbrooks, are also to be reported for today.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. E. S. Rawson has returned from a visit to Washington.

—Councilman and Mrs. James McLiff have arrived for the season.

—Mrs. H. Casimir DeRham and family arrived today at their cottage on Red Cross avenue, for the season.

—Mr. Harry Brown and Mr. Edwin Estes of New Yok are at the United States Hotel.

—Servants have arrived to put the E. C. Knight cottage on Bellevue avenue in condition for the season.

—Mrs. Ernest J. Lyons of Barrington is visiting her mother, Mrs. A. W. Thompson, who is ill at her home on Channing street.

—A. O'D. Taylor has rented the house at 8 Bath road, known as "The Anchorage," for William S. Vose, to Alphonse Frich of Boston, for a term of years.

—Paul J. Rainey's $45,000 horse Du Mund won a short race at Baltimore Monday by a head. Much was expected of Du Mund, and is still expected of him.

—The Government Landing is coming into spring condition. The grass has grown enough to call for the first mowing and the flagpole has been painted.

—There is a bed of hyacinths and tulips in full bloom at the John Carter Brown estate. On the Harold Brown place there are a couple of magnolia trees in full bud.

—A broken axle on a cart loaded with crushed stone made an incident of Thames Street life this morning, but it was a short one. Crushed stone or coal make no impression on the present pavement of Thames street.

—In addition to using dustoline on its macadam roads, New Bedford is this year to try two preparations of the Standard Oil Company for road treatment. One has an asphaltum base and the other is similar to dustoline.

—Captain Richard C. Menshall, Jr., U. S. A., of the quartermaster general's department, is ordered to Forts Williams and McKinley, Maine, Forts Adams and Greble, Rhode Island, and Fort Terry, New York, to install electrical systems.

—The tax assessors Monday afternoon reached the conclusion that the rate for 1909 will be $13 on a thousand, the same as last year. It has been known that the rate would not be less than $13, but it was hoped that it would not be more.

—William Loftus has rented, for Annie F. Kinney, her cottage at 1 Warner place to George R. Lutz; also the cottage at 2 Warner place to Mr. Dennehey; also, for Gustave E. Anderson, the second story of his half-house at 75 Pope street, to Thomas Downes.

—News has been received of the death in Keene, N. H., of Mr. Francis Read, a well known business man of that place, in his seventy-second year. Mr. Head was father of Mrs. William O. Glazier of this city and leaves another daughter, Mrs. John Burgum of Keene.

—Miss Georgie Trager was given a real surprise Monday evening, on the occasion of her birthday, at her home with Mr. and Mrs. Hass on Almy court. More than 20 guests arrived with gifts, and during the evening there were games, music, dancing and refreshments.

—On the occasion of last week's practice march by the naval brigade from the Training Station an operator from the Edison firm was here and took a number of moving pictures of the parade from different points. It is expected that the parade will take place this week as usual.

—The Representative Council will hold as pecial meeting this evening, to act on the Henderson Home for Aged Men bequest and do other business. The Board of Aldermen will ask for $2,500 more for repairs to the City Hall. There will be an appropriation resolution for playgrounds, and one for the committee of ten, and probably a number of other matters.

—"Vinland," the home of Mr. H. McK. Twombly, will be in condition for occupancy this summer, after two years of improvements. Mechanics are putting the finishing touches on made-over parts and the new parts and the furnishings are arriving. The house is more symmetrical, now that it has been raised to correspond with the piece inserted in the middle.

—The flowers show the backward tendency of the weather. Some have not changed in days, being just ready to open as soon as the sun and air give them half a chance. This is well shown by the magnolia tree on the J. N. A. Griswold place, the blooms of which have been ready to open for a week, but the wind would not allow. The magnolia tree on the Calvert place on Kay street, being sheltered from the northeast winds, is much farther ahead and presents a fine appearance.

Also, an act authorizing the Union St. Baptist Society to hold and transmit real estate and personal property.

Also, a resolution appropriating $1,200 for repairs to the Newport County court house and jail.

Also, an act in amendment of section 4, Chapter 1,419, of the General Laws, providing for the maintenance of the Rhode Island Stone Bridge.

The house committee on judiciary held a hearing on substitute A, for the lobster bill. Judge Lyman, Senator Clarke of Jamestown and John Brennan opposed the substitute and advocated the passage of the original, on the ground that foreigners are given greater privileges than citizens of the United States in the substitute and that foreigners will be allowed more privileges than citizens of Connecticut, Massachusetts or any other state than Rhode Island. They said they would rather see the law stand as it is than have the substitute pass, and that in stating this they were speaking for the native citizens of Rhode Island.

Richard W. Jennings, chairman of the Republican state central committee, who has been retained by the Greek lobstermen, spoke in favor of the substitute and asked that it be passed.

The senate committee on judiciary held a hearing on the act to abolish the Block Island Steamboat Commission. Mr. Walter Small was heard in opposition to the proposed act.

LAND OFFERED FOR PARK.

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt Willing to Make Gift to New York to Improve John Jay Grounds.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt will pay the bill for an improvement in the John Jay Park, in Seventy-seventh street, New York, if offers made to the city officials are accepted. Representing the Vanderbilt interests, Dr. Henry L. Shively called on the borough president, John F. Ahearn, to discuss the plan of closing Seventy-seventh street and throwing the two sections of the park into one large field.

The model tenement house to be built by Mrs. Vanderbilt in the warfare against tuberculosis will run from Seventy-seventh to Seventy-eighth street and will adjoin one section of the park. It is between avenues A and B. Considered separately, it is held the two sections of the park are not as useful to the public as they would be if the dividing street were closed.

In order that this may be accomplished it was suggested that 30 feet of the Vanderbilt property adjoining the park be taken as a highway. This would provide the necessary thoroughfare between Seventy-seventh and Seventy-eighth streets without taking anything from the park, whereas it would add about 22,000 feet of street to the park.

CHANGES IN NEWPORT ARTILLERY OFFICERS.

The annual election of the Newport Artillery will take place this evening, when numerous changes will be made in the roster of officers. Colonel Charles L. F. Robinson announced some time ago that he would not be a candidate for re-election and Lieutenant Colonel Frank P. King will be advanced to the command of the company. Major Frank S. Patterson will retire and Captain A. A. Sherman is slated for lieutenant colonel, Adjutant Chester L. Wyman for major and Sergeant Major William Knowe for captain. It is expected that Sergeant William E. Braley will be promoted to adjutant, and a number of other changes will be probably made in the list of sergeants on account of the advancement of those above them. No change is expected in the list of non-commissioned officers, Surgeon Barker, Chaplain Porter, Quartermaster Ebbs, Paymaster Hayden, Commissary Hazard, Assistant Surgeon Luther, Inspector of Rifle Practice Peckham and Assistant Paymaster Peabody being re-elected.

MARRIED AT COLON.

Wedding of Miss Bessie Chase of Middletown, to Mr. Martell of York, Pa.

The marriage of Miss Bessie Gould Chase, eldest daughter of Mr. Arthur W. Chase of Paradise avenue, Middletown, to Mr. H. Clarke Martell of York, Pa., took place Easter Sunday afternoon in Christ Church, at Colon, Panama. The Easter decorations at the church were not elaborate but pretty, and the full Episcopal service was used. The ceremony was witnessed by Miss Helen de Sheilde, who acted as maid of honor; Mr. Charles Hultmann as best man and Mr. C. R. Kerne, who gave the bride away. After the ceremony the bridal party went to the Imperial Hotel, where dinner was served and as the news spread rapidly an informal reception was held.

The bride is well remembered in this vicinity, where a few years ago she was popular among a wide circle. Mr. Martell has been on the Isthmus several years in the employ of the Canal Commission. Mr. and Mrs. Martell reside at the Chicago House, Cristobal, where they will be at home to receive friends.

MARYLANDERS INSPECT ROADS.

Commissioners from the South Tour the State Highway and Find Good Results.

The State Road Commission of Maryland, accompanied by Professor A. C. Blanchard of Brown University, toured the roads of Rhode Island in an automobile Monday, the trip being for an inspection by which the Marylanders hope to secure data on which to base their recommendations for the expenditure of $5,000,000 recently set aside for state roads by the legislature of that commonwealth.

The members of the commission are John M. Tucker (chairman), I. M. Shoemaker, F. C. Hutton and Dr. W. B. Clark, with Chief Engineer Walter W. Crosby and representatives of the Baltimore Sun and the Baltimore American, who are accompanying the commissioners on their inspection.

The Maryland party left Baltimore Saturday arriving in Boston Sunday morning. At the Hub they were accompanied by Commissioner Farrington of the Massachusetts State Roads Board and made an inspection of the highways in and about Boston, along the boulevards of the Metropolitan Park district and elsewhere in the suburban country.

Monday morning the party went to Providence from Boston in automobiles, and were met by Professor Blanchard. After going over the roads in Providence and East Providence, the party went down the West Shore and across the state to Westerly, returning to Narragansett bay by way of Charlestown and Narragansett Pier. They left Professor Blanchard at Saunderstown and came to Newport by the ferry, looking over the roads in the late afternoon. They left for New York on last night's boat, and will cover New York city and New Jersey today, arriving in Philadelphia tonight. Wednesday they will return to Baltimore.

Commissioner Tucker and Chief Engineer Crosby declared themselves as favorably impressed by the results in road-making attained in Rhode Island. It was said that one primary purpose which will be sought in Maryland is the building of roads which will be favorable to automobiling and, more particularly, to build roads on which heavy cars will have no detrimental effect.

ANNUAL DINNER AND REUNION.

Large Gathering of Members and Guests in Attendance.

Newport Artillery Company Celebrates Its One Hundred and Sixty-Eighth Birthday.

The annual reunion and dinner of the Newport Artillery Company Monday evening was as usual a successful affair, with a large assemblage of members and their wives, fine members and special guests, a well served dinner and a pleasing list of speeches. There were about 150 persons present, the guests being received in the company's rooms in the second story by the officers. Here there was an informal reception and social intercourse for an hour, when the orchestra announced that the dinner was ready and the members and their guests filed into the drill hall to take their seats at the tables. The special guests were at a table along the south side of the hall, behind which was a stand of colors. This and the other tables were decorated with palms, potted plants and cut flowers.

The dinner was served by Muenchinger under the direction of Commissary Silas H. Hazard, who has been in charge of many similar functions and knows what is necessary. During the banquet the orchestra, under the direction of Private A. A. Knowe, played numerous selections and good cheer prevailed throughout.

When the dinner was over Lieutenant Colonel Frank P. King called the assemblage to order, making an address of welcome, in which he said:

"It is always pleasant to meet old friends and comrades and at this time it is especially fitting after such a strenuous fight made against our existence as an independent chartered organization by some kind friends in the north part of the state. We were not only victorious in this battle, but it was a complete route for the enemy. We will receive the same benefits as before and by our organized fight we have made the authorities recognize the independent chartered organizations and those organizations which received little, will receive a great deal more than common, and at this time, I wish to thank, in behalf of the Newport Artillery Company the Newport county delegation and the other gentlemen who showed any interest whatsoever towards the independent chartered organizations. They were the persons who waged the war for us and made a splendid victory possible for the Newport Artillery Company."

Lieutenant Colonel King acted as toastmaster, the toasts being read by Captain Chester L. Wyman. They were as follows:

"The President of the United States—An apt scholar, who, profiting by experience under a competent teacher, has given to this country a President whose faculties and attainments are unparalleled." Robert S. Burlingame, collector of customs, was to have responded but was unavoidably detained.

"The State of Rhode Island—Smallest of all states, but is sometimes called a republic, within an empire, on account of its power." Representative Robert S. Franklin was expected to respond, but was prevented from attending by indisposition and sent a letter which was read.

"The City of Newport,—Beauty, health and wealth unlimited, she has within her borders rightly named, queen of watering places is she." Responded to by His Honor Mayor Boyle.

"The Army and Navy"—Captain Willis C. Metcalf, U. S. N., had been expected to respond but was unable to attend, and Colonel Herbert Bliss spoke in his place.

"The Independent Chartered Organizations—"The gentleman who will respond to this toast commands one of the much abused independent chartered organizations and is eminently qualified to respond to this toast." The response was by Colonel Merton A. Cheesman of the Bristol Train of Artillery.

"The Fine, Honorary and Past Members—You, who have helped to keep the good name of this ancient and honorable organization from generation to generation, do us honor, by your presence tonight. We love to listen to your words of advice and commendation." Colonel J. W. Horton responded.

"The Newport Artillery Company—It needs no toast; its record and its reputation speaks for itself. It is absolutely impossible to present this toast or to introduce the gentleman who will respond, for we love and honor them equally, our dear chaplain, Rev. Emery H. Porter." Chaplain Porter's response was characteristic of the man and was a fitting conclusion to the evening's festivities.

TO COOL SCORCHERS' ARDOR.

Indiana Town Has Novel Plan to Prevent Chauffeurs' Speeding.

HAMMOND, Ind., April 27.—The police of this town have devised a plan to quench the ardor of the automobile scorcher, whose favorite stretch for speeding is Calumet avenue. Midway along the thoroughfare is a field telephone, installed and worked by an officer, who will send information to the farthest end of the approach of a violator of the speed ordinance. Here will be established a water gun with a three-inch nozzle and 100 pounds' pressure to the inch. It is claimed that on the refusal of the chauffeur to stop when ordered a stream will be turned upon him with a force sufficient to lift him out of the machine without inflicting serious injury.

NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief.

What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover, in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store-house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

AGONY OF ECZEMA BEYOND WORDS

Whole Body a Mass of Raw, Torturing Humor—Hair All Fell Out and Ears Seemed Ready to Drop Off—Clothing Would Stick to Bleeding Flesh — Hoped Death Would End Fearful Suffering.

CASE SEEMED HOPELESS BUT CUTICURA CURED HER

"Words cannot describe the terrible eczema I suffered with. It broke out on my head and kept spreading until it covered my whole body. I was almost a solid mass of sores from head to foot. I looked more like a piece of raw beef than a human being. The pain and agony I endured seemed more than I could bear. Blood and pus oozed from the great sore on my scalp, from under my finger nails, and nearly all over my body. My ears were so crusted and swollen I was afraid they would break off. Every hair in my head fell out. I could not sit down, for my clothes would stick to the raw and bleeding flesh, making me cry out from the pain. My family doctor did all he could, but I got worse and worse. My condition was awful. I did not think I could live, and wanted death to come and end my frightful sufferings.

"In this condition my mother-in-law begged me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I said I would, but had no hope of recovery. But oh, what blessed relief I experienced after applying Cuticura Ointment. It cooled the bleeding and itching flesh and brought me the first real sleep I had had in weeks. It was as grateful as ice to a burning tongue. I would bathe with warm water and Cuticura Soap, then apply the Ointment freely. I also took Cuticura Resolvent for the blood. In a short time the sores stopped running, the flesh began to heal, and I knew I was to get well again. Then the hair on my head began to grow, and in a short time I was completely cured. I cannot praise Cuticura enough. I wish I could tell everybody who has eczema to use Cuticura. My condition was so terrible that what cured me cannot fail to cure anybody of this awful disease. If any one doubts the truth of this letter, tell them to write to me. Mrs. Wm. Hunt, 135 Thomas St., Newark, N. J., Sept. 28, 1908."

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent (Liquid or Pills) are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass. Mailed Free, Latest Cuticura Skin Book.

ADANA SCENE OF FRESCH OUTBREAK.

He gives as follows the first graphic story of these days of massacre, rapine and incendiarism:

"The entire vilayet of Adana has been visited during the past five days by a terrible massacre of Armenians—the worst ever known in the history of the district. The terror has been universal, and the government is powerless to check the disorders. Adana, capital of the province, has been the storm centre. Conditions have been unsettled for some time past, and there has been animosity between Turks and Armenians, owing to the political activity.

"Early last Wednesday, while I was in the market, I noticed that the Armenians were closing their shops and hurrying to their homes. An Armenian and a Turk had been killed during the night, and the corpses were paraded through their respective quarters. The sight of the dead inflamed the inhabitants, and crowds began to gather in the streets, armed with sticks, axes and knives. A few young Armenians assembled in the centre of the covered market and began firing revolver shots into the air. By 11 a. m. the crowd had begun the looting of shops.

"The military commander at Adana was by my side in the market when the firing began. He had not the courage to endeavor to disperse the mob; he returned to his residence, and did not venture out for two days.

"William Chambers, field secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, and myself proceeded to the Konak and found a howling mob, demanding arms with which to kill the Giaours. We then went to the telegraph office to summon the British consul. On the steps of the building we saw three dead Armenians. Their bodies had been mutilated. While we were in the office a mob burst into the room where we were and killed two Armenians before our eyes. The unfortunates were supplicating the protection of the vali when they were struck down.

"We managed to make our way into the next room, where we made representations to the vali. This official said he could do nothing. He was afraid of his own life, and he made no attempt to protect us. Somehow we managed to get to the interior of the Konak, where we remained at the side of the government officials for the next 48 hours.

"That afternoon the situation grew distinctly worse. The Armenians withdrew to their quarters in Adana, situated on a hill, and converted their houses into fortresses. Here the fighting went on for two days, the Armenians beating off their Turkish assailants.

"Wednesday evening Major Daughty Wylie, British vice consul at Mersina, arrived at Adana and established headquarters in a house of a dragoman of a wealthy Greek resident, where many refugees had been received. The wife of the British vice consul, who was brought into Adana under fire Thursday, tended personally to many wounded women and children.

"Adana was a hell. The bazaars were looted and set on fire. There was continuous shooting and killing in every part of the town, and fires raged in many quarters. Major Daughty Wylie, at the head of troops which he compelled the vali to supply, went to the railroad end of the town, and was successful in preventing the villagers from coming into Adana. Later, while the major was attempting to pacify the town, he was shot and disabled.

"Missionaries of the Central Turkey mission had assembled for a district conference in the centre of Adana on the day of the outbreak. They received and protected hundreds of refugees in the American seminary for girls, and courageously endeavored to pacify the warring elements.

"On Thursday Daniel Miner-Rogers and Henry Maurer, American missionaries, were killed under treacherous circumstances.

"On Friday the Armenians yielded, since when there has been little murdering.

"Adana is in a pitiable condition. The town has been pillaged and destroyed, and thousands of homeless people here are without means of livelihood. It is impossible to estimate the number of killed. The corpses lie scattered through the streets. Friday, when I went out, I had to pick my way between the dead to avoid stepping on them. Saturday morning I counted a dozen cartloads of Armenian bodies in one half hour being carried to the river and thrown into the water. In the Turkish cemeteries graves are being dug wholesale.

"The condition of the refugees is pitiable and heartrending. Not only are there orphans and widows beyond number, but a great many—even the babies—are suffering from severe wounds.

"The situation at Adana itself is unspeakable. On Friday afternoon 250 so-called Turkish reserves, without officers, seized a train at Adana and compelled the engineer to convey them to Tarsus, where they took part in the complete destruction of the Armenian quarter of that town, which is the best part of Tarsus. Their work of looting was thorough and rapid. It is said that they spread with kerosene and fired the great historic Armenian church Tarsus, the most important building in the city. They demolished marble statues and shattered important historic tablets. Everything portable was carried away, but the church itself resisted their attempts to burn it. Fortunately, few persons were killed here. This was owing to the proximity of the American College, where 4,000 destitute and homeless persons had sought and found shelter."

TEACHER IN TARSUS COLLEGE.

Rev. Mr. Gibbons, Eye-Witness of Massacres, Recent Beloit Graduate.

BOSTON, April 27.—Rev. Herbert Adams Gibbons, the missionary who has telegraphed the details of the Adana massacre, is a teacher in St. Paul's Institute at Tarsus, a college maintained by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. Rev. Thomas D. Christie, who has been a missionary of the board since his graduation from Andover Theological Institute, in 1877, is its president. Rev. Mr. Gibbons is a young man, having graduated from Beloit College only recently. After graduating he went to Paris to pursue further studies, and the understanding is that he was engaged as a teacher by President Christie while abroad.

A daughter of President Christie was the wife of D. Miner Rogers, who was killed at Adana.

MANY MORE PERSONS KILLED.

Moslems Again Attack Adana, and Carnage Renewed.

BEIRUT, Syria, April 27.—Delayed despatches just received here say that the carnage in Adana was renewed Sunday night, and many persons were killed. The first massacres in Adana, where an American missionary was killed, resulted in the slaughter of 10,000 persons. Advices indicate that the Moslem hordes have again attacked the city.

MEHEMMED V NOW SULTAN OF TURKEY.

government, which the empire has sadly lacked. The results, from an international view, are likely to be very broad if the Young Turks carry out to a successful issue their plans; for instance, it will deprive the states of Europe of any pretext for continual intervention, and in all probability will mean the drawing closer of English influence in the Levant, as against that held by Germany.

As much as anything else to be desired in Turkey, however, is the administration of a regime which will be a guarantee for a complete restoration of law and order throughout the Sultan's dominion. This the students of Turkish politics feel may be brought about by the Young Turks, provided, always, of course, that they undertake their work with a sincere purpose of doing their very best for all citizens and interests, and avoid any suspicion of selfish desire in the working out of the reforms proposed by the constitution. Not less important than other needs, it is pointed out, is the guarantee of freedom of worship, in contrast with the fanaticism of Mohammedanism which the deposed Sultan, instead of checking, permitted to become rampant.

VERY GENEROUS AND KIND.

New Sultan Gracious and Easy in Manner, and Talented.

LONDON, April 27.—A person who is well acquainted with Mehemmed Reschad Effendi, the new Sultan of Turkey, gives the following sketch of the brother of Abdul Hamid:

"He is tall and well proportioned, but inclined to stoop. His features are regular, but he has a hooked nose, like that of Abdul Hamid. His eyes are blue and his hair and beard are light red. His manners are gracious and easy, and he is exceedingly generous and kind. He plays well on the piano, and he is a great admirer of classical music.

"Like the deposed Sultan, the new ruler of Turkey is a good draughtsman, and he sketches well. He has two wives and several children, three of whom are boys. Both his wives are highly educated, and are the daughters of distinguished pashas. They dress at home in the French fashion."

NO FIXED BILL FOR CHARTER.

Committee Endorses Draper Plan, but Wishes Many Restrictions.

BOSTON, April 27.—Although there was no decided opposition to Governor Draper's solution of the railroad merger by the organization of a holding company for the stock of the Boston & Maine railroad now being held outside the state, the executive committee at an hour's session today failed to obtain any definite plan or bill for the charter of such a company. It was expected at the state house today that the committee will later ask the attorney general to draw a bill in conformity with the governor's suggestions, after which the measure will be submitted to a general discussion at a hearing. The hearing today, however, showed that all the parties which have agitated the railroad merger question, either for or against it, were practically unanimous in endorsing the latest proposition, but they desired many restrictions.

Just as the hearing was closing, Representative Norman White asked Vice President T. E. Byrnes of the New Haven road what restrictions his company would agree to in order that the stock of the Boston & Maine might be brought back to Massachusetts, and if the company would be willing to submit such restrictions.

Mr. Brynes deftly parried the questions by stating that he was at the hearing to protect the interests of the road, and not to suggest a solution of the question. The New Haven does not wish its rights restricted, but it believes the governor's suggestion a step in the rights direction, and in the interest of the transportation facilities of the state, as it would prevent other interests coming into the state and taking control.

HAINS JURY COMPLETED.

State Will Now Present Its Case in Annis Murder Trial.

FLUSHING, N. Y., April 27.—The jury for the trial of Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., for the killing of William E. Annis was completed at the afternoon session of the court here today. Emile Lefuer, an Austrian printer, married, living at Winfield, Long Island, was selected as the eleventh juror, and the twelfth and last juror was Jacob Knieke, 29 years of age, a garment cutter of Germania Heights.

When court convened today with ten jurors in the box for the trial of Captain Hains, it was expected that the two jurors remaining to be chosen would be secured during the day. It was announced that should the jury box be filled a reasonable time before the usual hour for adjournment the state would immediately present its case. District Attorney Dewitt declared that his opening address would be brief.

Peter C. Hains III, son of the captain, who has not seen his father since the captain's arrest, seven months ago, is now on his way to New York, where he will join his grandmother, Mrs. Peter C. Hains, Sr., and come with her to Flushing.

IN COMMAND OF AN AMERICAN.

Albany's Captain Stops Filibustering Expedition to Salvador.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Captain Benson of cruiser Albany, who has been in Central American waters under instructions from this government to watch developments in that territory, it is unofficially learned here, was the means of stopping an alleged filibustering expedition in command of Captain John Moissant, an American, which was about to cross from Nicaragua into Salvador. Details have not yet been received. The expedition, it is alleged, was to start under cover of night. Captain Benson threatened to open fire, it is said, if the supposed filibusters made any move.

THE PHILIPPINE TARIFF BILL.

House Sub-Committee Appointed to Redraft the Measure.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The ways and means committee of the House met today to consider the Philippine tariff bill introduced recently by Representative Payne of New York, and which was the object of a special message from the President. A sub-committee consisting of Representatives Payne of New York, Hill of Connecticut, Boutell of Illinois, Clark of Missouri and Underwood of Alabama, was appointed to redraft the bill. Colonel Colton of the Philippine customs service appeared before the committee to explain certain features of the bill, which was prepared largely by him. The sub-committee will have its first meeting tomorrow.

The reports showed a slight numerical and financial increase of the state branch.

MUSIC AND BANQUET.

Rhode Island Lodge's Celebration of the Ninetieth Anniversary of the Order.

Rhode Island Lodge, No. 12, I. O. O. F., celebrated the ninetieth birthday of Odd Fellowship Monday evening in the lodge room and hall, gathering a number of guests who included brother Odd Fellows and ladies. The celebration was in the hands of a committee comprising Lincoln Hammett, chairman, Louis E. Tilley, E. Raynor, W. D. Tew, William H. Wilcox, William J. O. Young and Arthur G. Albey. There were about 250 present, and among them a number of the older members of the lodge, whose physical condition does not permit more than occasional attendance, and who in consequence were given an opportunity after the formal exercises to meet those who have gone through the chairs since they ceased to be active.

The formal program was provided by home talent, except for the reader and singer. The guests were welcomed by Noble Grand Louis E. Tilley, after which he turned over the chair to William D. Tew as master of ceremonies. The program which followed included in opening the Lustpiel overture by Professor Lodter's orchestra, vocal solos by Miss Lillian M. Wilson and Mr. Karl M. Stone, readings by Miss Nina Bearse Wilbur, violin solo by Professor Edward Lodter, piano duet by Misses Carley and Dring, and in conclusion a selection by the Jolly Musical Club, a dozen boy and girl violin pupils of Professor Lodter.

Chairman Hammett during the exercises had been busy in the hall below, and at their conclusion the tables were loaded with a fine repast. The party was led down stairs by the higher officials of the order, who occupied the head table, while four tables accommodated the others. The menu included chicken salad, scalloped oysters, cold ham and tongue, rolls, pickles, coffee, cake and ice cream. After the feast the centre of the hall was cleared and there was dancing.

PHIPPS—LANGHORNE.

Wedding Ceremony Performed by Bishop Courtney in St. James's Church, New York.

Fashionable society turned out in full force in New York Monday afternoon for the wedding of Miss Nora Langhorne and Paul Phipps in St. James's Church. The floral decorations of the church were on a scale of unusual magnificence.

Bishop Courtney officiated. The bridesmaids were Miss Gertrude Sheldon, Miss Nathalie Rowland, Miss Katherine Atterbury, Miss Rachel Phipps, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Julia Biddle of Philadelphia and Miss Ella Buck of Richmond. There were two maids of honor—the bride's little nieces—Miss Irene Gibson and Miss Nancy Perkins.

Mr. Phipps had as his best man the Hon. Angus MacDonnell, a son of Lord Antrim of England. The ushers were William Langhorne, a brother of the bride; Charles Dana Gibson, Reginald Brooks, Alexander Butler Duncan, Charles Draper and Lee Phillips of Washington.

The bride is the youngest of the five beautiful daughters of Chiswell D. Langhorne of Albemarle county, Va. She has achieved great social prominence in this country and in England, where she has been much with her sister, Mrs. Waldorf Astor. Her other sisters are Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, wife of the well known artist; Mrs. T. Moncure Perkins of Richmond, and Mrs. Reginald Brooks of this city.

Mr. Phipps, the bridegroom, is half American, his mother, formerly Miss Jessie Butler Duncan, being a daughter of William Butler Duncan of this city. The father of Mr. Phipps is William Wilton Phipps of Culford Gardens, England.

THE SAME "OLD HOMESTEAD."

Proves as Popular as Ever With the Old, or a New, Theatre-Going Public.

That "The Old Homestead" has not lost its popularity with the theatre-going public of Newport, or perhaps that it creates a new theatre-going public, was conclusively shown Monday evening, when the well known play was presented to a large audience at the Opera House. The play is the same as when first produced, at least in its essential features—the same interesting characters, the same wholesome lesson and the same continuing interest from start to finish.

Denham Thompson, who created the role of Joshua Whitcomb, has retired on his well earned laurels, but he selected the company which presented the play and evidently knew what he wanted and found what suited him in those who make up the present cast. William Lawrence was satisfactory as Joshua Whitcomb, Charles Clarke, a veteran of the cast, was as acceptable as ever as Seth Perkins, and the others, including Fred Clare, Frank Knapp, Gus Kammerlee, Maude Breyer and Anita Fowler, were well suited to their parts, giving a well-rounded production. The double quartet of farm hands and the Grace Church choir are still the musical features of the performance.

THE OPERA HOUSE CHANGES.

Up to date there are no indications that the owners of the Opera House propose to make the changes which were ordered to be completed by the first of May. There are three days left in which to do the work, and no beginning appears to have been made; in fact, it is reported that they will not be made. The lessees of the house caused it to be intimated some time since that they were prepared to abandon their lease in case nothing was done, and while this may have been a bluff there are no indications that they propose to give up now. Indeed, they have announced their intention of keeping the house open for a summer season of vaudeville.

MANY DELEGATES PRESENT.

Convention of Churches of Rhode Island Held in Providence.

Officers Elected, Two Newport Clergymen Being Appointed Members of Committees.

Three hundred delegates from churches of various denominations all over the state were present at the first convention of the churches of Rhode Island in Providence Monday. The convention was called to order by Rev. Lester Bradner, Jr. of St. John's Church, Providence. He said the gathering was the outcome of a long period of hope and preparations had been under way for a long time. "The reason this meeting has come about," he said, "is because there was a strong desire on the part of a number of those associated in the Federation of Churches of Rhode Island that the church universal of Rhode Island, at least, should have an opportunity to impress upon the minds of the Christian community of the state the possibilities to be experienced at the time when the churches of Rhode Island should come together in unity of action and singleness of purpose."

Officers were elected, ex-Lieutenant Governor Frederick H. Jackson being chosen president and Rev. J. Francis Cooper, D. D., secretary. Rev. Joseph Cooper of this city was made a member of the committee on resolutions and Rev. William H. Thomas, also of this city, a member of the committee on credentials.

The delegates were welcomed to the city by Mayor Fletcher. Governor Pothier sent regrets at his inability to be present. A welcome on the part of the Mathewson Street Methodist Episcopal Church was given by the pastor, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, who declared the convention of the greatest significance.

President Jackson responded for the convention. He said that perhaps nowhere in America has there been such a multiplicity of creeds as in Rhode Island. Rhode Island was the cradle of religious freedom. The Protestant division of the Christian army has been fighting in detached bodies and therefore at a tremendous sacrifice, and he commended the organization and unity of effort of the Roman Catholic Church.

"The City Without a Church" was the subject of an address by Rev. O. P. Gifford, D. D., president of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches, the principal speaker of the session.

At the afternoon session Rev. W. I. Ward, D. D., district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church, led the opening service. Following came the report of the committees of 12, on the "religious forces of Rhode Island and on the "religious needs of Rhode Island" the former being presented by Rev. Edward Holyoke, D. D., chairman, and the latter by Rev. Eric I. Lindh of Pawtucket, chairman. The report of the committee "on religious forces of Rhode Island" was in part as follows:

"Your committee finds that there are at least 27 Christian denominations represented in the state of Rhode Island. Of these, returns to our inquiry for statistics have been made by 18, including all of the larger. The Roman Catholic population is mostly confined to the northern half of the state. Of the Protestants the Baptists predominate in the rural districts. They lead in numbers in the two southern counties (Kent and Washington), but in the other three (Providence, Bristol and Newport), the Episcopalians are numerically strongest. The latter lead in the roll of Protestant church membership in the cities of Providence, Pawtucket, Newport and Woonsocket.

"The Roman Catholic Church now claims a baptised population of 230,969. The statistics of the Protestant churches, compiled from the latest information, are as follows: Number of churches, 339; membership, 65,455; Sunday school membership, 58,252. Your committee finds it significant that: First, so many churches, even the leading denominations, must be classed as nearly stationary, instead of growing. Second, so small a sum is paid for what might be called state missionary work as compared with the sum expended for maintenance (4% per cent). Third, so large an amount is needed for self-maintenance ($2,553 per parish on the average), considering the number of church members average 195 per parish), making the expenditure average $13 per member. Fourth, so few churches in the total are engaged in institutional work, considering the large number of churches in each denomination which work in large centres of population.

"Your committee offers the following recommendations: That the custom of giving away meals and lodgings shall be held in restraint and more carefully guarded. Indiscriminate charity of this kind tends to pauperize the recipients and to encourage vagrancy. The cases should be exceptional where a person is housed and fed without being required to make payment in money or work. That steps shall be taken looking to the establishment of a general industrial mission in Providence which shall, as far as possible, absorb the industrial features of the other city missions and become the recognized centre for work of this character. Such a mission should have an adequate building and equipment; it should be in charge of trained workers, and it ought to occupy a place in our municipal life comparable to the Young Men's Christian Association."

The report of the committee on religious needs of Rhode Island brought out the following recommendations or suggestions after a thorough re-capitulation of the present conditions:

"A thorough study of the local field by the local church or churches in co-operation, with a new view to more adequate ministration to its every real need. Definite attempts to combine weak, dependent churches, especially when of kindred basic polity or doctrines, for more effective pastoral services, the needs of the community being greater than local church or denominational interests. Inter-denominational co-operation, particularly of kindred denominations, for a larger colportage or circuit ministry.

"A new standard of ministerial equipment, measured not by the time-honored requirements of the past, but by the demands of this age, with its new social and industrial problems. A sincere and intelligent interest in the welfare of the workingman, that he may secure for himself and his family the rights and privileges to which he is justly entitled. Some definite basis of exchange of representatives of ministerial bodies and labor organizations, that each may learn the new points and understand the problems of the others.

"Discriminating study of the foreigner, avoiding the injustice of wholesale classification and criticism, and meeting the individual opportunities created by national and racial differences. Open the church doors widely for the foreigner and welcome his children in your Sunday schools. Denominational support of foreign churches where demanded, and inter-denominational co-operation to meet the larger opportunities."

The general topic was discussed under the six heads "A More Efficient Church," "The Unchurched," "The Rural Problem," "Defectives and Delinquents," "Industrial Problem," and the "Foreign Problem."

The evening session was held in the Beneficent Congregational Church and the big auditorium was filled. In the absence of President Jackson the vice president, Rev. Edward Holyoke, presided. A chorus of 450 voices, furnished by the Young People's Societies of the city, was massed back of the pulpit. After several selections from the chorus Rev. Asbury E. Krom, pastor of the Beneficent Congregational Church, conducted the opening exercises.

Silas McBee, editor of the Churchman, spoke for the Episcopalians, and Professor Alfred Williams Anthony, D. D., of the Clarke Divinity School of Lewiston, Maine, and secretary of the Maine Interdenominational Commission, spoke on "The Maine Alliance and Our Main Reliance."

It was voted that the conference stand adjourned subject to the call of the federation committee appointed to arrange for a second conference at a subsequent date. Rev. Henry W. Rugg, D. D., conducted the closing exercises and pronounced the benediction.

Among the delegates were Rev. James Austin Richards, Mrs. James Austin Richards, Wilfred H. Chapin, Mrs. Walter S. Langley and William P. Buffum, of the United Congregational Church of this city; Rev. Joseph Cooper of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. William Safford Jones, I. K. Carr, Job A. Peckham, Walter A. Wright and William O. Goddard, of the Channing Memorial Church; Rev. W. H. Thomas of the Mt. Zion African Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. E. F. Barrow and Joseph Forrester of the Union Congregational Church, Rev. H. E. Hatchman. Mrs. James Church, Miss Ida Church and Harold Frost, of the Tiverton Baptist Church; Rev. J. D. Waldron, Mrs. Waldron, Mr. and Mrs. David W. Simmons and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen G. Cornell, of the Tiverton Free Baptist Church.

QUALITY OF PAVING GRAVEL.

Aldermen to Investigate Difference Between Contractor and Street Commissioner.

The Board of Aldermen held a special meeting Monday evening to take action on the matter of paving gravel, there being a dispute between the street commissioner and the contractor in regard to whether or not certain gravel supplied to the city was up to the contract requirements. In the absence of Mayor Boyle, who was at the Artillery entertainment, Acting Mayor Shepley presided, and all the aldermen were present.

There was some talk about the reason for the meeting, which Mayor Boyle had directed the city clerk to call, but for which he had left no communication. Finally J. J. Dugan, who has the contract for supplying paving gravel, said he had delivered some paving gravel which the street commissioner would not allow him to land, and afterward gave him permission to put on the dock. He claimed that it was the same quality called for in the specifications. He had called the city engineer to inspect the gravel and submitted a letter from City Engineer Lawton, which stated that he had examined the gravel at the City dock and found it to be a fair sample of paving gravel such as the city had used for years.

Street Commissioner Sullivan said the first load of gravel furnished by Contractor Dugan was according to the sample submitted and was satisfactory. The second was neither according to sample nor satisfactory and he would not receive it or allow him to land it. Mayor Boyle called him up in regard to the matter and said it would be a great convenience to Mr. Dugan if the gravel could be taken. He said that for certain purposes this gravel could be used, and he allowed him to land it. However, he wished more of this, as it might take all the year to use this load. There is more or less loam in the last load; and this has a tendency to throw curb and paving when it freezes. For that reason such gravel has been rejected in years past by his predecessors. There is a difference in the color of the gravel, but that does not affect matters.

Mr. Dugan said the last load was of the same quality as the sample. What was asked for was a gritty gravel, or coarse sand, and that was furnished. The gravel is there to be seen. There was some talk between the contractor and the street commissioner, which the board suggested was unnecessary.

Finally a committee, consisting of Aldermen Mahoney and Albro, was appointed, with the city engineer, to investigate the matter. Mr. Mahoney said his knowledge of paving gravel was nil and he thought some one who knew something about it should go on the committee. Mayor Shepley said the committee would take its information from the city engineer and so previous knowledge did not count.

Then the board adjourned.

DISTRIBUTING THE SEAMEN GUNNERS.

The graduate class of seamen gunners at the Torpedo Station will be distributed this week. Six are to leave for San Francisco, to join the Buffalo and cross to the Pacific fleet; seven will go to Norfolk, to join ships there; eleven are bound to Charleston, to join the torpedo fleet; one goes to the Missouri, three to the Louisiana, two to Philadelphia, for ships there, and six to New York, to join ships there. This gives an idea how completely a class which has been together for 14 months is scattered over the surface of the waters after graduation.

GOOD ENOUGH TO REPEAT.

Large Number Unable to Gain Admittance to the Hall.

Father Mathew Combination Entertainment a Success in All Its Features.

The attraction of the "combination" entertainment of the Father Mathew Society, Monday evening, proved potent enough to bring together perhaps the largest gathering of people ever assembled at an affair of this kind in this city. Before 8 o'clock it was necessary to stop the sale of tickets and it is estimated that between 400 and 500 were unable to gain admission to the hall, the announcement being made that the entertainment would be repeated. This was the third of these entertainments given by the "Tabs" and the excellent reputation of its predecessors was a guarantee of the standard of this year's event. The program comprised three distinct divisions, a salad supper, minstrel show and dance.

The supper was served from 6:30 until 10 o'clock and before the first-named hour a large number were awaiting admission to the supper rooms, which in their pretty decorations of flags and bunting, with a display of large palms at the entrance and clusters of cut flowers about the tables, made the scene inviting. Not the least pleasing sight was the young waitresses, in their white uniforms, who saw that everybody was well served and conducted the supper end of the program with skill. The arrangements for handling the large numbers who visited the supper rooms were well-nigh perfect and those attending were loud in their praise of the excellent menu and capable service.

The minstrel show in the large hall was another feature. At an early hour the spectators began to arrive and long before the time advertised for the show to begin every chair was occupied, while numbers stood in the rear of the hall. Here again the precision and thoroughness which marked the whole entertainment were manifest. A large corps of efficient ushers was on hand and saw that every one was well looked out for to the limit of possible accommodation.

The minstrel first part opened with a lively medley of old Irish airs and the curtain ascending revealed the troupe in a neatly costumed minstrel circle. The stage setting consisted of white lattice work against a background of green, with festoons of evergreen interlined with the lattices, numerous tiny electric bulbs sparkling everywhere, while overhead were two American flags, an eagle and a large sign, "Welcome," made of electric lights. The soloists and chorus men were in evening dress and the eight end men appeared in green and scarlet. The applause which greeted the picture was hearty and prolonged, the audience demanding a repetition of the opening chorus.

"Val" Walters, a minstrel man of the old school, opened the show with "Jersey," a rollicking topical song, which Val gave in his own style. Not the least funny verse was that concerning one of Newport's suburbs, which brought down the house.

"Bud" Meehan, after he had cleverly given some of the best jokes of the show, sang "Goodby, Mr. Ragtime," which he rendered in a clear style, his antics on the chorus stamping him as a first-rate comedian as well as a good singer.

George Barker, known to every follower of amateur events in Newport, was the first ballad singer and his rich round voice was well suited to his selection, "Molly O," a familiar title but a new song.

"Say No, That's All," by Billy Conroy, was as lively as could be imagined and "Billy" rendered it in fine style. Mention should also be made of Mr. Conroy's jokes, which were bright and well rendered.

A new-comer was John A. Mullally, who made his first appearance with the "Tabs" minstrel company. He has a good tenor voice of wide range and his song was one of the gems of the production.

Another new-comer in the minstrel line was Jerry Coffey, better known to many in the city as "Dud." Jerry, however, is no stranger to the theatre-going public of Newport, having appeared in the productions of the St. Joseph's Dramatic Society. As a delineator of the real, old-fashioned Southern darky, Mr. Coffey is entertaining and his efforts were greeted with such continued applause that extra encores were necessary.

Mr. John A. O'Brien of Providence sang with much expression and in good voice "Where the River Shannon Flows." His solo caught the house and was easily as finished a piece of work as is done in many a professional company.

Harry Leeson, in Eddie Leonard's big song success, "Booboo Eyes" was capital, his grimaces and droll way of rolling out the words caused much laughter and winning repeated encores.

Charley Gifford, always a favorite, sang intelligently and pleasingly "Just Some One," a sentimental number sure to prove a big success. Mr. Gifford managed his voice to the best advantage in this number and the selection was artistically given. A pretty effect was introduced during the chorus of this song, every person in the circle waving a bouquet in which were partly concealed tiny electric bulbs. In the semi-darkness the waving lights made a striking picture, which called forth repeated rounds of applause.

Charley Crane had a good song in "The Hen Roost Inspector Man" and made the most of his opportunities. He was obliged to repeat his song, and, as usual, his clever work was one of the features of the performance.

The finale introduced Eddie Kirwin in a lively patriotic song, Mr. Kirwin's dancing being of the whirlwind variety. The curtain descended amid a storm of applause which continued until the company acknowledged at least half a dozen curtain calls.

The chorus sang in fine time and spirit and its work went a great way in making the first part a success. The juvenile chorus, composed of Masters Patrick Hade, Henry Bennett, John Hade, William Sheehan and Thomas Martin, also added greatly to the effect of the ensemble, their young voices being noticeable in many of the choruses.

John E. McCarthy was interlocutor and on his initial appearance in that line of endeavor was dignified and apt, his work in the dialogue with the end men, business calling for ready wit, being especially well done.

The olio or second part opened with Eddie Kirwin in a characteristic song and dance which seemed to please. He was followed by Charley Crane, assisted by four "young ladies" and four young men, disguised in rube attire. The act was brightly given, its novelty appealing to all.

Meehan, Kirwin and Leeson were next on the bill, assisted by the F. M. T. A. sextette. This act was one of the features, being a dancing number of the rapid-fire order from start to finish. The costumes were certainly wonders, the peach-basket hats of the "young ladies" being nothing short of startling in size and trim.

The performance closed with the negro farce, "Too Much Discipline," which was full of fun and clever character work, and with the final curtain the verdict was unanimous that for an amateur show the Father Mathew Society had set a mark difficult to equal.

The following was the executive staff of the show: Business manager, Charles F. Gifford; musical director, Cornelius W. R. Callahan; pianist, Miss Lena Agnes Finn; director of orchestra, Frank J. McCloskey; stage manager, Patrick H. Vaughan; assistant stage manager, P. H. J. Leeson; program and press agent, E. P. Kirwin; electrician, Thomas F. Harrington; property man, Patrick Burns; stage carpenter, Thomas Doyle; scenic artist, Francis K. Burns.

At the conclusion of the minstrel show Mr. Daniel E. Doherty, president of the organization, thanked the audience for their attendance and appreciation and announced the repetition of the show.

Dancing closed the entertainment, a large number of people, both young and old, remaining to participate in the good time. McCloskey's orchestra furnished the music.

BLISS ROAD AND GIBBS AVENUE SEWERAGE.

The sub-committee on the matter of the sewerage of the Bliss Road and Gibbs Avenue sections made a personal investigation of the location Monday afternoon. There was no trouble about finding matter which could accommodate itself to sewers, there being a superabundance of water on the section about the lot where the tank is located in expectu. The trouble is to dispose of the superabundant waters. The sewerage plan for this district includes only the sewerage and does not contemplate caring for surface water; therefore, so far as the committee could see, conditions must remain much as they are until material is brought to fill in the land. This does not mean that it is not possible to sewer the higher districts as suggested, but according to the latest information, gathered Monday afternoon, the job will be more expensive than has been thought.
